THANK YOU FOR VOTING US THE BEST

Our industry is a competitive one, so to be voted by Queenslanders as the best shutters and blinds retailer in the state speaks volumes for the quality of our products and customer service.

With more than 20 years of experience in South East Queensland blinds, awnings & shutters, we can confidently say we are true experts in our field. But more importantly than that, our outstanding reputation comes from putting our customers first.

We put our customers first by providing the highest quality products to you, all guaranteed with generous warranties. We put you first in the advice we provide. Part of the effectiveness of our mobile showroom service is that our expert team can see exactly where and what you're dealing with so we can give you the best guidance as to what will work best in your space specifically.

We are incredibly proud of the amazing feedback we get from our valued clients

If you need shutters, call this company. I highly recommend them. I am so happy with the result. Through the whole process every person I spoke to in the company were so informative and professional, and the installation happened without any problems. Christmas happened during the process and so it delayed things but that's pretty normal. I am so happy with the end result. Thank you Factory Direct.

We recently used Factory Direct for a few areas in our home. Our initial contact was with sales representative Wendy who displayed excellent knowledge of the product and was very professional and friendly. We had our installation today. Kyle turned up exactly at the organised time and efficiently installed our product. The shutters are very good quality and look fantastic. Would definitely recommend this company.

Cameron was prompt with his measure and quote and was very good with his follow up. I also had another two quotes from other companies who never once followed me up. The office team kept me up to date with expected arrival times. Luke came out to install them last weekend (huge job in the terrible heat) and he was also great to deal with and did a very professional job. They look absolutely amazing and I love them. I have recommended Factory Direct to literally anyone who will listen!!

My grandparents recently had shutters installed and wanted to pass on their praise. They wanted to comment on how amazing both Aaron and Anthony were throughout the consultation and installation process. Aaron was extremely careful and precise with his measurements, and gave my grandparents full confidence in the final product. Anthony made them feel like nothing was too much trouble and was incredibly considerate. Both were extremely professional, friendly, courteous and completed their jobs to an extremely high standard. Thank you so much, they absolutely love their shutters!

SHUTTERS

CONSIDERING SHUTTERS?

We specialise in chic window and door shutters, offering you a wide range to choose from, designed to fit perfectly into your home or office space.

There are so many reasons to consider shutters for your window or door solution – no other product allows the breeze to come through while maintaining light, privacy and style.

Plantation shutters are one of the most sought after window furnishings around and are extensively featured in designer homes and interior publications for good reason – form as well as function are their hallmark. Our Tempo External and Vivace Indoor Aluminium Shutters are lockable and won't be damaged by exposure to water, are suitable for salt air environments and will not degrade from moisture. Adagio Timber Shutters are for indoor situations only and provide the charm, luxury and warmth that comes with real wood. Alto Polyresin Shutters are a great choice for internal wet areas such as bathrooms and kitchens. All three offer great insulation against heat and noise.

At Factory Direct, all of our products are made-to-measure and will fit your windows and doors perfectly. They can be designed to be permanently fixed, hinged, bi-fold or sliding, depending on your needs. Your Factory Direct shutters won't chip, fade, warp, change colour or crack. We are proud to deliver our customers the highest quality range on today's market.

No other product allows the breeze to come through while maintaining light, privacy and style.

Alto Polyresin Shutters

Control your own privacy and light filtering with our chic and elegant internal window shutters. Alto Polyresin Shutters are a hugely popular, signature product offering from Factory Direct, providing your home with a high-performance window furnishing as well as on-trend style.

Unaffected by moisture and humidity (perfect for the Queensland climate), Alto Polyresin Shutters carry a 20-year product warranty and a 5-year warranty on hardware componentry and paintwork. Alto Polyresin Shutters also have the unique ability to provide excellent thermal and acoustic insulation and because they are a high-strength product, they are impact resistant.

Toxicity Free

A designer home is nice, but your family's safety is paramount. That's why at Factory Direct we don't take any half measures when it comes to ensuring all of our products are toxicity free.

All of our shutters, blinds and awnings, including our extremely popular Alto Polyresin Shutters, which are ideal for wet areas and are non-toxic. Our Alto Polyresin Shutters in particular have been independently and extensively tested and certified to ensure they do not emit volatile organic compounds (VOC) or harmful emissions, even in high-temperature climates.

Shutter Applications

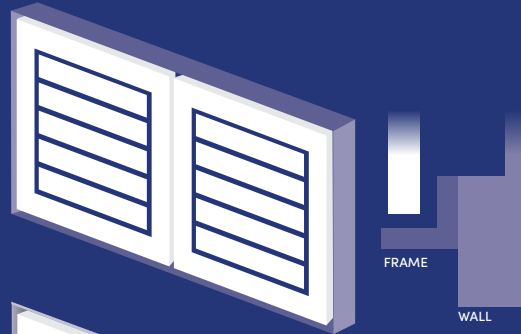

When looking to install shutters in your home or workplace, it is important to consider how you would like them to open and close.

Shutter Frames

Whilst hinging straight on to your timber reveals is one way of installing shutters, many opt for frames, as they assist with the ease of installation. The hinge attaches to both the shutter and the frame itself. There are 3 options, each suited to the width and depth of the window reveal.

Face fitting L-Frames are used for wide windows when there is not enough depth of reveal. The cover strip built into the frames is designed to hide your screw heads for a clean look.

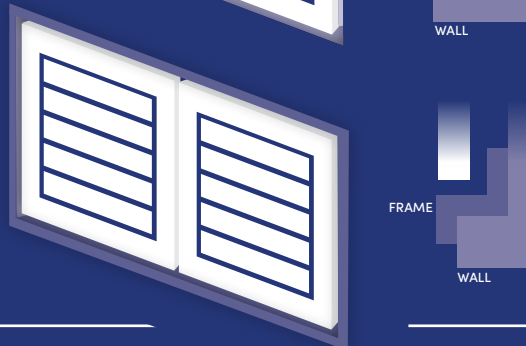

L-FRAME INSIDE MOUNT (RECESSED)

Reveal fitting L-Frames are perfect for wide windows when there is enough depth of reveal. The frame and shutters sit flush with the window reveal.

Z-FRAME INSIDE MOUNT (RECESSED WITH EXTRA FRAME)

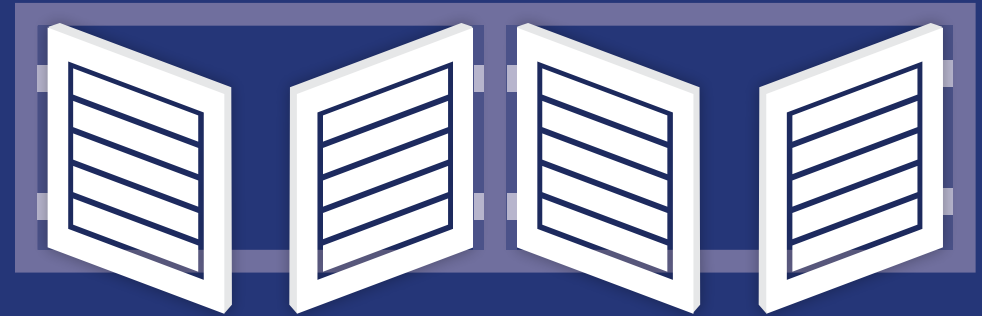

Used in situations when there is not quite enough depth of window reveal as a means of bringing the shutters forward into the room and covering unsightly gaps.

Hinged Panels

Hinged panels are a popular choice and are primarily used to cover windows. As illustrated, there are various ways you can hinge your shutters.

HINGED LRTL

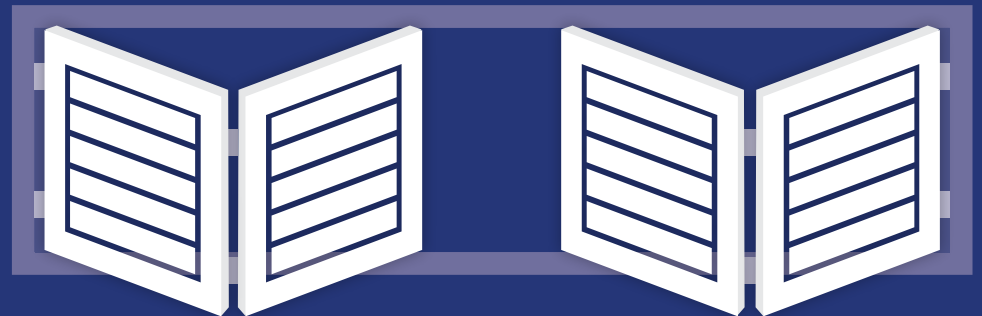

HINGED LTLRTR

DOUBLE HINGED LLRR

Recommended for small windows only.

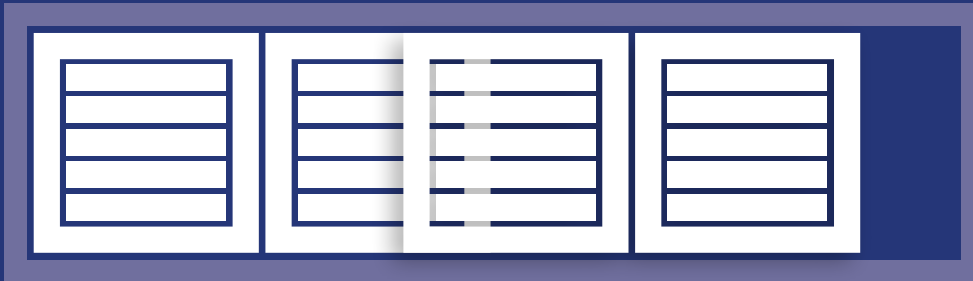

Sliding Panels

Sliding panels are generally used to cover a doorway. The attraction is their ease of use and the fact they are less intrusive on the room space than bifold shutters. As illustrated, a double-track system is used to slide the shutters, and different options exist as to how the panels open and close. On rare occasions, sliding panels can be used for windows where the reveal is quite wide, allowing for the double-track system to be fitted.

Not all security screens and doors are the same.

To make an informed choice on which brand of security screen to purchase, here are seven key questions to consider:

SECURITY SCREENS

How is the security screen fixed?

If screwed, it can be subject to electrolysis, or what is commonly referred to as galvanic corrosion. This occurs when dissimilar metals (the screw and the aluminium frame) connect, which can weaken the screen.

If solely chemically bonded (glued), this may not be enough to ensure the integrity and longevity of your security screen.

Are the corners of the screen or door solid metal stakes?

If the corner is hollow and merely cold-welded, this is usually the first area the security screen or door fails.

Plastic stakes used in the corner of the screen and door are no comparison to security doors and screens assembled with solid metal corner stakes.

Is the security door fitted with a 3-point lock?

Doors fitted with a single lock are in fact classified as barrier screens and not considered a security door by Australian standards, specifically AS5039.1:2023.

Is it Australian-made?

Beyond patriotism, there are very important matters to consider if buying an overseas-produced screen. Firstly, non-Australian-made screens can have potential maintenance issues. Local parts/extrusions are often incompatible with screens or doors made overseas.

Is the screen manufactured by an industry-qualified tradesman?

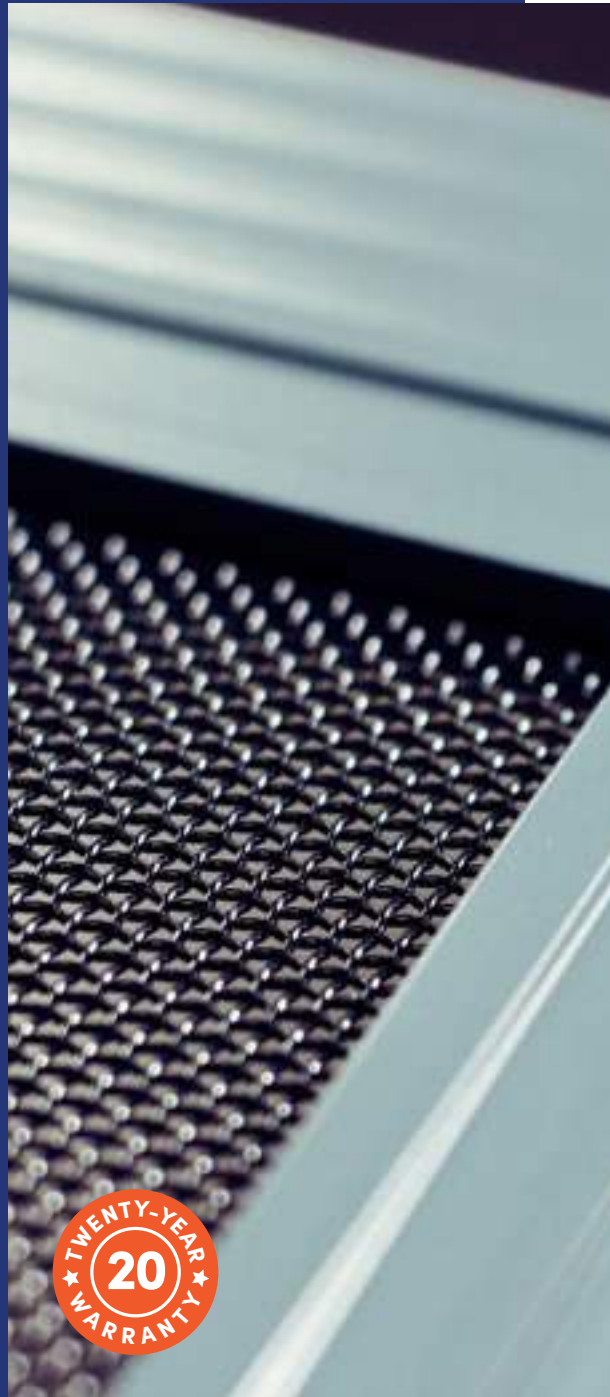

Preferably, you want your security screens and doors constructed to the highest standard by a tradesman with an MSF30919 Certificate 111 in Blinds, Awnings, Security Screens, and Grilles.

What is the mesh tension like?

A lot of security screens and doors sag, especially when you go above standard sizes. This often causes sliding doors in particular to catch or rub against one another. To address the problem, some suppliers have introduced an additional mid-rail to keep some tension, but this only detracts from the screen's visibility.

Is the security mesh suitable for properties in coastal regions?

Homes and businesses within 500m of the coastline (and even those within 2km if located on a rise where winds can carry salt air) should only use 316 marine-grade stainless steel with a two-pack coating to protect against corrosion.

Enjoy clear, unobstructed views without compromising on the security or aesthetics of your building.

Quality above all else

LockShut security screens and doors have invested in the quality of the make above all else. We figure there's no point throwing a whole heap of money at promoting an inferior product only to see returns clog up our warehouse floor.

We use the best materials and construct our security screens and doors with qualified tradesman. Without a doubt, we are confident they're the best quality in Australia.

Here are the top reasons to choose LockShut security screens:

Large screens without compromising on strength and security

Our innovative patented tensioning system is yet unmatched. It allows us to build very large screens (4020mm x 1845mm for window screens and 4085mm x 1930mm for doors) without the screen flexing or bowing and without the need of a horizontal mid-rail.

This means, no matter what size security screen or door you get from us, you will have an unobstructed view free of any mid-rail. This also eliminates any chance of sliding doors rubbing on each other or the glass door frame.

In terms of the view, our products feature no black trim or screw strip between the screen and the frame. There is no trim at all. The product flows seamlessly from frame to mesh.

Dual fixed frames for longevity

Our security screens are fixed to the frame using an innovative two-part process. Screens are both chemically bonded and machine clamped into the frame. No other competitor product comes close to this process. Importantly, the mesh does not touch the frame at any point, as this would make it subject to galvanic corrosion.

Strength where it counts

All doors and screens are only assembled with solid metal corner stakes to fortify each corner, making every aspect of the product robust and strong. Most security products fail at frame corners due to using inferior materials such as plastic or cold-welded hollow aluminium.

Protected against the elements

We only use 316 marine-grade stainless steel in all our products with a two-pack coating, providing added protection against corrosion in coastal environments or iron-rich, red-dust-prone areas.

The process undertaken sees the mesh chemically stripped, chromated, coated, and baked dry. It's then two-pack coated again by repeating the painting process before being coated with a finishing protection layer. This is without a doubt the best finish in the market.

This powder coat process means all LockShut security screens and doors feature a 20-year warranty – the longest warranty on the market by far.

Quality you can count on

All our security doors go through an extensive 19-point quality control check, with our window screens also going through a 14-point quality control check. This is to ensure all of our products are manufactured to the highest standard of quality.

Advice you can trust

All our staff have completed or are currently enrolled in an MSF30919 Certificate 111 in Blinds, Awnings, Security Screens, and Grilles.

Customised sizes

All LockShut security doors are custom-made to fit any door style or size. Our security screens are the same – custom manufactured to meet your needs.

A step ahead

Lockshut security screens and doors are ahead of the times quite literally. We are already constructing our security products to meet SL200 Australian Standards, even though they haven't been officially released yet. Indeed, our products are manufactured to exceed SL200 certification.

Peace of mind

Our security screens and doors allow you to leave your windows and doors open to let the breeze roll through your home day or night.

Australian Made

Lockshut security screens and doors are Australian owned and made. Not only that, but we're also a proud member of the NSSA (National Security Screen Association).

Standard Frame Colours

Our aluminium frames are finished using Interpon™ powder coating, and are available in a wide range of colours, including the latest Colourbond™ colours and wood grain effect. Custom colour matching is also available.

*Popular, non-standard colour. These colours are for reference only and are an approximate of the true colours.
